FOR DEALERS & DISTRIBUTORS / EDUCATION THAT GOES WITH THE CALL

Turn Know-How Into Your Edge.

Give your team useful training. Give customers a clear next step. Keep manufacturer support within reach.

The product is the beginning of the conversation. MT E.L.K., INC. brings together calling demonstrations, model-specific care, preserved history and practical support resources so your team has something useful to share before and after a sale.

Explore Education | Open Dealer Training | Watch videos here >

WHAT YOUR NETWORK CAN PUT TO WORK

Orient new representatives. Match questions to the right lesson. Share a resource with a customer. Bring unresolved questions back to the manufacturer. The following pages turn existing website features into a suggested training and support workflow.

Give Every Rep a Strong Start. > 02

Stop Searching. Find the Lesson. > 03

Keep Support Close to Every Sale. > 04

Reach More Customers With the Right Resources. > 05

Bring the Training to Every Store You Supply. > 06

DOWNLOAD IT. CLICK IT. SHARE IT.

This PDF is made to circulate among representatives, retail teams and business partners. Open it in a PDF reader to use the buttons, underlined links and Contents navigation. Online resources need internet. Videos play inside the website. The QR code on page 6 works from printed copies.

01 / TURN YOUR WEBSITE INTO A SHARED TEAM REFERENCE

Give Every Rep a Strong Start.

A suggested orientation using the dealer presentation, verified lessons and existing support tools.

01 Start with the program. Keep the next step clear.

Open the dealer training area to watch the embedded program presentation, browse the original dealer materials and find the application. It puts the business conversation and staff resources together. Confirm current account requirements and commercial terms with the team.

Dealer presentation > Dealer application >

02 Let the source demonstration do the talking.

The Deer Talk demonstration features Deer Talk, the Deer Stopper Call and calling whitetail deer. Watch, listen and return to the source as you practice. The separate guided deer-calling path offers five timestamped passages from How to Talk to the Deer with existing source-based summaries.

Deer Talk lesson > Guided deer-calling path >

03 Practice the handoff your customers will need.

Have a team member identify a model, find its care resource and share the exact lesson URL. Save useful links in My Field Guide on the current browser. If the model or answer is uncertain, use the published office contact rather than substituting another call's instructions.

Model support > Care library > My Field Guide >

A READY REFERENCE FOR REAL CONVERSATIONS

These are suggested ways to use the current resources, not a mandatory course or certification. Lesson descriptions introduce the material; use the actual film for the demonstrated technique. A saved Field Guide stores links locally in that browser; it is not a synced account or offline video library.

02 / CLICKABLE SHORTCUTS FOR YOUR COUNTER AND SALES TEAM

Stop Searching. Find the Lesson.

Give your team a direct route from the customer's question to the resource that fits.

"Can I hear a calling example?"

Open the Deer Talk calling demonstration, then explore the guided deer-calling path for more source context.

Watch Deer Talk >

"Which lesson matches this call?"

Use Education search and combine species, call model and topic filters. Share the filtered URL or individual lesson.

Find a lesson >

"I need to replace a band."

Choose the exact model in the care library. Band replacement and reed replacement are listed as different tasks.

Browse band lessons >

"I have a Yote Buster."

The current Yote Buster care resource is reed replacement. Open that model's own lesson before following it.

Open the reed lesson >

"Where are the other films?"

Explore the embedded video library. Search and filter the available collection, then share a specific on-site resource.

Explore the video library >

"Where can I learn the brand story?"

Use Legacy and the Archive to explore preserved articles, available full-text reading and narration, and original documents.

Explore Legacy >

WATCH HERE. REVISIT WHEN YOU NEED IT.

Website controls keep playback embedded. Players load after interaction; customers can return to the same lesson and related resources. If playback fails, close and reopen the player, then contact the office with the lesson name if needed. YouTube may still require sign-in or restrict a browser/network.

03 / TEN MODEL-SPECIFIC CARE RESOURCES IN ONE CLICKABLE DIRECTORY

Keep Support Close to Every Sale.

Match the call first. Share its specific resource. Keep the manufacturer contact handy.

CALL MODEL	TASK	ON-SITE LESSON
Deer Talk Call	Band replacement	Open lesson >
Antelope Talk Call	Band replacement	Open lesson >
Power Howler	Band replacement	Open lesson >
Yote Buster	Reed replacement	Open lesson >
Yote Howler	Band replacement	Open lesson >
Cow Talk Call	Band replacement	Open lesson >
Deluxe Cow Talk Call	Band replacement	Open lesson >
Power Bugle	Band replacement	Open lesson >
Royal Bugle	Band replacement	Open lesson >
The Wolf Howler	Band replacement	Open lesson >

A USEFUL FOLLOW-UP AFTER THE SALE

1. Identify the model. Ask for the call name and use a clear photo if it is unfamiliar.
2. Share the exact lesson. Confirm that the model shown matches the customer's call.
3. Bring questions to us. Include the model, the task, the issue and the lesson URL.

Browse all care > Model resources > Contact the manufacturer >

WHEN YOUR CUSTOMER NEEDS A PERSON

Product and call-model support: office@elkinc.com or (406) 517-8923. Confirm order, return and warranty questions directly with the office. Do not swap another model's instructions for the customer's call. These resource links support the conversation; they do not replace model-specific source demonstrations.

Email office@elkinc.com Call (406) 517-8923

04 / ENGLISH + FRENCH + SPANISH + GERMAN

Reach More Customers. Share More.

Four website language editions give your network more ways to find and share existing learning resources.

WEBSITE EDITION	EDUCATION	CALL CARE	SUPPORT
English	Find lessons >	Find care >	Get help >
Français	Find lessons >	Find care >	Get help >
Español	Find lessons >	Find care >	Get help >
Deutsch	Find lessons >	Find care >	Get help >

01 Let customers choose how they explore the story.

Supported complete historical articles include readable transcripts and selected-language audio using a matching browser/device voice. Use pause, resume, stop and speed controls. Original scans and PDF sources remain available, including download and print from the on-page viewer.

Read and listen > Explore the Archive >

02 Make the next resource easy to return to.

Share a lesson or filtered-page URL with a customer. My Field Guide keeps selected resources together locally. The distributor guide offers a separate overview of language support with links your team can reuse across its network.

My Field Guide > Multilingual distributor guide >

KEEP THE LANGUAGE PROMISE ACCURATE

Page translations do not dub the original English videos or replace original scans. Translated full articles are labeled machine-translated; some labels/source passages remain English. Narration requires a supported full text and matching device voice. Confirm live staff language availability before promising translated phone or email service.

05 / A SUGGESTED DISTRIBUTOR ROLLOUT - START WITH TODAY'S RESOURCES

Bring Training to Every Store.

Use one shared resource library to support your representatives, retailers and their customers.

GIVE YOUR NETWORK A SIMPLE ROUTINE

01 Orient	Introduce the dealer presentation and the manufacturer contact route.
02 Match	Have each retailer find lessons for the call models they carry.
03 Share	Send the exact lesson link with a customer follow-up or staff note.
04 Revisit	Encourage teams to replay source material and save useful links.
05 Escalate	Collect model details and unanswered questions for the office.

COMING SOON

MT E.L.K., INC. UNIVERSITY

We're bringing our video archive, calling education, call care and company story together to help people watch, listen, train and work toward their best. Today's lessons and videos are already available. No launch date, enrollment or certification is announced.

Explore what's planned >

Start learning today >

LET'S SUPPORT YOUR TEAM

Business / application: phillip@elkinc.com

Product support: office@elkinc.com

Call the office: (406) 517-8923

Open Dealer / Distributor Application

Review dealer training >

SCAN. WATCH. SHARE THE NEXT STEP.

www.mtelkinc.com/education/

Scan from a printed copy. In the downloaded PDF, click any resource or contact link. Email controls open your mail app; review and send your message there.

Resources checked October 21, 2026. Training suggestions describe possible uses, not guaranteed sales or field outcomes. Distributor/dealer status, pricing, territory and program terms require team review and written confirmation.