START HERE / SAVE THIS GUIDE FOR YOUR COUNTER TEAM

Your customers. Our support.

A dealer's clickable guide to helping customers learn a call, find the right care lesson and reach the manufacturer.

Support beyond the sale. Use our website as a shared resource during a product conversation, at a staff-training session or when a customer needs help after taking a call home.

WHAT DOES THE CUSTOMER NEED?

Learn a sound >	Calling demonstrations and lessons
Watch a video >	Search the embedded video library
Replace a band or reed >	Find the exact model's care lesson
Identify a call or ask a question >	Model resources and direct office contact
Check product options >	Public catalog, parts and product details
Hear the company story >	Legacy, people and original records

01 / NAVIGATE, DEMONSTRATE & SHARE

Find the right resource together.

A simple four-step walkthrough you can use at the counter or explain over the phone.

01 Open the right section.

Start at www.mtelkinc.com. On a phone, open the menu or use the bottom Shop, Learn, Videos and Find shortcuts. On larger screens, use the navigation and footer links. Choose Education for lessons or Support for a call-model question.

Open website > Education >

02 Search by the exact call and the goal.

Use the Education search and species, call-model or topic filters. Calling demonstrations, band replacement and reed replacement are separate lesson types. Choose Find (or Ctrl/Cmd + K) to search across the site. If the model is uncertain, use Support first.

Search lessons > Identify the model >

03 Watch in the website.

Select the matching lesson or Play control to load the embedded player. Pause and replay the source demonstration at the customer's pace. In the video library, filters, sorting and previous/next controls help you move through the available films.

Video library > Deer Talk demonstration >

04 Send the specific resource home.

Open the individual lesson and copy its page address for the customer. The video library's Copy Link control can include the selected video and filters. You may also share a filtered learning page. My Field Guide saves links in the current browser for your own return visits.

My Field Guide > Guided Deer Talk path >

IF THE VIDEO DOES NOT PLAY

Close and reopen the embedded player. YouTube may require sign-in or apply browser/network restrictions. If playback still fails, contact the office with the lesson name and browser/device. Music pauses when a video opens; all website video viewing controls stay on-site.

02 / MODEL-BY-MODEL SUPPORT

The call-care desk reference.

Match the name on the call before following a care video. Each lesson below opens inside the website.

BANDS AND REEDS ARE DIFFERENT TASKS

The current Yote Buster lesson covers reed replacement. The other nine listed care lessons cover band replacement. Do not substitute instructions from another call or assume a part fits from its color. Ask the office if the model or part is uncertain.

03 / CUSTOMER SUPPORT & A CLEAR HANDOFF

When your customer needs us.

Our website combines self-service lessons with direct manufacturer contact. Use the office for questions the resources do not resolve.

01
Start with the model
Identify the exact call.

>

02
Open its resource
Use the matching lesson.

>

03
Ask the office
Explain what remains unclear.

CUSTOMER QUESTION	WHERE TO GO
“I’m not sure which call I have.” Use model support; email a clear photo if needed.	Support guide >
“How do I learn or practice this sound?” Open calling demonstrations or the video library.	Education >
“I need a band, reed or care lesson.” Match the model and the maintenance task first.	Care lessons >
“The instruction leaves me with a question.” Tell the office which model and lesson you used.	Contact the office >
“I have an order, return or damaged-item question.” Keep the receipt/reference and confirm the process.	Published policy >

TALK WITH THE MANUFACTURER

(406) 517-8923 office@elkinc.com

Mailing address: PO BOX 473, Livingston, MT 59047

Phone and email links use your device’s calling or email app.

Include: call model; what the customer is trying to do; the lesson followed; a clear description of the question; and a photo if identification is needed. For order-related matters, include purchase location and the relevant receipt/order reference.

For a return, exchange, damage or warranty question, confirm the current process directly with the office and consult the published policy. This guide does not promise an approval, remedy or response time. Opening an email draft is not a submitted support request; review it and press Send.

04 / FOLLOW-UP, LANGUAGES & PRODUCT INFORMATION

Make the next visit easier.

Give customers a useful link and help them return to the knowledge behind their call.

01 Keep the learning link close.

Choose Save to Field Guide on supported lessons and call resources. From My Field Guide you can remove items, clear the list or download a text list of links. For a customer handoff, share the actual lesson URL rather than your browser's personal saved list.

My Field Guide > Call resources >

02 Offer the customer's language.

The website has English, French, Spanish and German editions. Use the language controls to switch corresponding pages. Available historical transcripts also offer selected-language reading and audio. Original films and scans remain in their original language; audio reading depends on device voices.

Français > Español > Deutsch >

03 Review products and replacement parts.

Use the public Shop categories and native product pages to review current descriptions, options, prices and stock. Suggestions can point to related catalog items; they are not proof of compatibility. Confirm uncertain replacements with the office. Public checkout does not establish dealer pricing or account terms.

Product catalog > Bands and reeds >

04 Use the story to support the conversation.

About, Legacy and the Archive connect the company account to people, historical records and original scans. Customers can enlarge supported scans, view source PDFs on-page, download originals and prepare printing. Full article reading/audio is available only when the source supports it.

About > Legacy > Archive >

WHAT YOUR CUSTOMER'S SAVED GUIDE DOES - AND DOES NOT - DO

My Field Guide stores links in that browser; it does not sync between devices or download videos for offline use. A printed or downloaded link list still needs Internet access for its online destinations. Only complete, recoverable article texts have full narration.

05 / TRAIN YOUR TEAM & SHARE THE NEXT STEP

Your dealer desk kit.

Use these resources for staff orientation and a clear customer handoff. Keep manufacturer support separate from business-account applications.

START WITH THE DEALER HUB

The dealer area brings the program presentation, application steps and staff-training resources together. Review current account, territory and ordering arrangements directly with our team.
