FOR DISTRIBUTORS / GIVE YOUR RETAILERS KNOWLEDGE THEY CAN SHARE

More ways to support your market.

Four website language editions. Practical product education. A direct connection to the manufacturer.

A distribution conversation should include what happens after the product reaches the store. MT E.L.K., INC. gives your network a common place to explore the company story, find calling and care resources, and connect customers with manufacturer support.

WHY THIS MATTERS TO A DISTRIBUTOR

Equip retailer teams with a shared reference. Help customers find relevant information in a familiar website language. Keep model-specific care close to the sale. Bring unresolved product questions directly to the manufacturer. These are practical tools for your network, not a promise of sales results or market access.

WHAT YOUR NETWORK CAN USE

Website navigation and discovery

Corresponding language editions include navigation, lesson browsing, filters, model resources and support information. Some source labels or passages may remain in English.

Historical articles: read and listen

Supported complete articles have readable transcripts and device-based audio in the selected language, with pause/resume/stop and speed controls. Full translated transcripts are labeled machine-translated.

Application and saved copies

The Dealer or Distributor questionnaire has four language editions. Review and PDF/print tools support the selected edition; the applicant-prepared email provides English details for staff review.

WHAT A LANGUAGE EDITION DOES NOT IMPLY

Original films and scans remain in their source language. Article audio needs a matching device/browser voice and a recoverable full text. Store and checkout translations depend on merchant settings. Published policy bodies may remain English. Confirm live staff language availability before promising translated phone or email service.

02 / FROM THE CUSTOMER'S QUESTION TO THE RIGHT NEXT STEP

Turn language choice into support.

A suggested handoff your representatives and retailer teams can use with a customer.

01 Ask for the language, model and goal.

Open the matching website edition. Identify the exact call and whether the customer needs a calling example, a band lesson, a reed lesson or help identifying the product. Use the model name in Find or the learning/support filters. Ask the office when identification is uncertain.

French Support > Spanish Support > German Support >

02 Share the specific lesson - with source context.

Open the model-matched lesson and watch in the website. A translated page helps visitors find the resource; it does not turn the original English film into a dubbed or translated video. Let the customer pause and revisit the source demonstration at their pace.

French Cow Talk care > German Yote Buster care >

03 Use translated reading and audio for the story.

When discussing company history, open a supported record and choose Read & listen. The selected-language transcript and available device voice offer another way to explore the full article. Original scans and PDFs remain available for exact source wording; incomplete sources are clearly identified.

French Legacy > Spanish Legacy > German Legacy >

04 Send the right link; contact us when needed.

Copy the exact lesson or filtered page URL for the retailer or customer. My Field Guide saves useful links in the current browser. If a question remains, contact the office with the call model, lesson URL, issue and a clear photo if helpful. State the preferred language and confirm what assistance is available.

My Field Guide > Manufacturer contact >

KEEP THE HANDOFF CLEAR

Language choice helps people navigate and use available text; it is not a guarantee of translation accuracy or real-time interpretation. If video playback fails, reopen the embedded player and contact the office if needed. YouTube may require sign-in or apply browser/network restrictions. No external video-viewing buttons are added.

03 / REASONS TO DISCUSS DISTRIBUTION WITH MT E.L.K., INC.

Why build the relationship with us?

Consider the practical support that can accompany the product conversation across your retail network.

01 Manufacturer knowledge, with a direct contact route.

Our model resources, source-mapped care lessons and published office contact give your team a clear route from a product question to the manufacturer. You can equip retailers with the correct lesson and bring the remaining question to us with useful context.

Model support > Contact the office >

02 Education your representatives can reuse.

Searchable lessons, the embedded video library, model pages and the dealer presentation provide a shared reference for staff orientation and customer follow-up. Your network can send the same source links rather than recreate an explanation separately for each store.

Dealer training hub > Education > All videos >

03 A brand story with visible source material.

About, Legacy and the Archive connect people and company accounts with preserved articles and original documents. On-page previews, original-PDF download/print tools and available full-text narration make the record accessible while keeping verification notes visible.

About > Legacy > Archive >

04 A practical digital foundation for your network.

Four website editions, phone navigation, shareable filters, saved links and an existing product catalog support repeatable retailer conversations. Current catalog suggestions connect products with related items; they are editorial matches, not popularity claims or automatic additions.

DISCUSS THE FIT; CONFIRM THE TERMS

These resources support education and communication. They do not promise sales, margins, exclusive territories, automatic approval or a wholesale ordering portal. Discuss pricing, credit, stocking, fulfillment, territory and cross-border responsibilities directly. MT E.L.K., INC. UNIVERSITY is Coming Soon; use the current lessons today.

04 / YOUR DISTRIBUTOR AND LANGUAGE-SUPPORT CONVERSATION

Let's discuss your market.

Tell us who you supply, the languages your retailers use and the support your team needs.

BRING THE NETWORK INTO THE CONVERSATION

Share your countries/regions, retailer coverage or recruitment plan, staff and customer language needs, proposed assortment, stocking/replenishment capacity and training approach. For cross-border plans, describe the responsibilities you expect to handle. These details help the team assess fit and the support discussion.

Use the Distributor path in the application. Review, sign and keep a PDF/print copy. Submit Application stores the full form; exporting a PDF or preparing an email alone does not submit it. Applications and any proposed directory participation require manual review.
